

Geminids radiant point as seen looking east from mid-northern latitudes about five hours after Sunset - 9:15 pm EST.
(Note: Mars is just putting in an appearance a bit north of east. While bright, it will be outshone by Sirius.)

